Industry's First Comprehensive Commercial Loan Modification Software Is Online and Customizable. Information Available at KhafrePortal.com

Lakewood, California – PAYMENT GONE, LLC, creators of Khafre Back Office, today announced the launch of its commercial loan modification software module. This marks the introduction of the first commercial loan mod software on the market. The new module is designed to enable firms to accurately capture and manage their clients' entire portfolio of commercial properties and to quickly analyze their clients' complete financial picture in one place. This latest module builds on the success of the Khafre Back Office platform, which already includes modules for residential loan modification, debt settlement, forensic audits and credit repair.

Khafre's commercial loan modification software delivers a complete loan mod solution for commercial properties -- from data capture and qualification to file processing, document generation and submission. Khafre's unique, multi-file system allows users to manage multiple submissions without re-entering data already captured such as debts, assets, expenses, occupancy status, rents, taxes, etc. The software's file processing screens automatically calculate client incomes, property incomes and rent-rolls, then dynamically use the data to calculate combined mortgage balance, PITI, potential incomes, vacancy loss, net operating income and more. Khafre's commercial loan modification module features built-in document generation, saving users from the tedious task of copying data into forms for submission, improving efficiency, and reducing user error. And Khafre's compliance engine tracks every activity, email, note, alert, exhibit upload and document generation with a time and date stamp.

"From the beginning, Khafre has been designed and built from the user's perspective. This module exists because our clients asked us to build it," explains Adam Attanasio, President of Payment Gone. "We took our design queues from our clients, who told us what they needed to successfully manage and process commercial loan modifications."

"We love the fact that Khafre Back Office includes MyKhafre for free, allowing our clients to access and update their financial profiles, read and respond to notes, upload exhibits and check status." Says Angela Dillon, Operations Manager of Sure Fire Loan Mods. "This makes for a truly collaborative experience for our processors and our clients and makes the entire process much easier."
